La pequeña, quien cursa estudios en el colegio Nuestra Señora de Monserrat, ubicado en Carabayllo, postuló a la carrera de Bibliotecología y Ciencias de la Información.

Con un puntaje final de 913, ocupó el puesto 26 y alcanzó una de las vacantes ofrecidas en dicha especialidad.

Sin embargo, no es su primer ingreso universitario ya que, el año pasado, también hizo lo mismo pero en la Universidad La Cantuta.

Ella forma parte de un grupo selecto de escolares menores de 15 años que han logrado ingresar a San Marcos en el último examen de admisión. Entre ellos se encuentran David Huamani Castillo, José Maldonado Bravo y Ángela Melgarejo Estacio, del I. E. Juan Pablo Peregrino.

"Quiero que el presidente Pedro Pablo Kuczynski sepa que acá, en Carabayllo, nos esforzamos para estudiar y salir adelante", comentó, en declaraciones recogidas por Trome.

Esto begins to progressively change from the nineties when it seems that this neconservatism is losing strength (at least with regard to historical disciplines). But this is not only manifested in the monument, in order to express industrial archeology, he needs to develop an appropriate methodology that saves the Existing between the documents and the culture they represent. His reflection on the history of folklore, could also be vate for industrial archeology: "his book on the popular construction of ancient Virginia), is not exactly a study of ancient buildings, but it is a study of the architecture of the thought of past times, an attempt to reconstruct the logic of people who died through the contemplation of the houses in which he lived. From the half of the seventies he began to arise criticisms of their excess of empiricism, also some of the first industrial archaeologists British while Kennet Hudson began to make self -criticism of his work, in the idea that it was necessary to overcome the simple description of industrial monuments, to start reflecting and interpreting them in a long context. 26. Spain ± one ' Political, social and economic evolution of the United Kingdom and Ireland since 1945. Industrial archeology as a discipline was born in the Anglo -Saxon cultural context and the British authors suffered, perhaps, of a poor theoretical development and did not worry about the problem of the definition of the Disciplinary field: "They limited themselves to defining the flexible limits study, without insisting too much on its temporary delimitation and in its methodological clarification - (Borsi, 1978, 9). In the same direction you must position the renewal of the Traditional that assumes that the new archeology that is declared manifestly anthropological, that is, considers that the objects and artifacts produced by a society inform us of the social and economic processes that act in it. The first problem that is presented is the research, cataloging, study and conservation of the object as such or as a testimony of an obsolete production process. In this way, industrial archeology turns into historical research, anchored to some time, and even more, defined by a temporarily determined object of study; a historical model in the sector.
